AIR POWER TO REACH JAPAN

Japanese militarists now have something else to divert their harassed minds. Air power's reach has been stretched to reach them in their island stronghold—not as a stunt, like the Doolittle raid in April, 1942, but as the first demonstration of an operation made practical by development of the B-29 type of heavy bomber. They knew it was coming eventually, and it arrived Thursday.

As equipment and experience become available, the bombing of Japanese targets will become as methodical as strategic operations by the air force over Germany and German-held Europe. The operation starts at a much higher point of development than that in Europe; it has the benefit of everything learned there since 1939.

Long-range bombing raids on Japan entail the use of a new implement of war, now in quantity production after approximately five years of preparation. The B-29 is this country's most advanced contribution to the arsenal of aerial weapons. It has no known counterpart. Its production in quantities sufficient to become a military factor could be undertaken only by a nation of unrivaled resources.

The ultimate effect of systematic bombing of the Japanese homeland is problematic. The Japanese are prepared for it, but they cannot know how well until they have withstood it. They know only what every American knows—that it is a logical development of air power's function in World War II and the retribution they asked for by going to war with a nation which has the imagination and resources to go the limit in developing whatever tools of war are necessary to bring the war to a conclusion.

AGREEMENT ON FOREIGN POLICY

President Roosevelt's declaration that his administration favors an international council with broad responsibilities for promoting and facilitating international cooperation and adjudicating disputes takes the foreign policy issue out of the presidential campaign, assuming that Mr. Roosevelt is going to be the Democratic nominee.

There is nothing in Mr. Roosevelt's statement of intent that cannot be subscribed to generally; it is a virtual duplicate of the prevailing Republican attitude. Dissent could come only from extremists in both parties who have been trying to stir up an argument for which there was no basis in prevailing public opinion.

The so-called foreign policy issue always was a myth, because there could be no issue as between parties, unless one or the other, or both, came under the control of persons who did not reflect popular opinion. In other words, there is no foreign policy issue in popular opinion. The ordinary run of Americans will want their country to encourage and support any practicable plan for international consultation that may be devised. They will favor all moves to maintain peace by preventive measures, in cooperation with other peace-minded nations. They will insist on retention of sovereignty and will resist all proposals for international police forces, not because they are unwilling to pay that price for peace, but because instinct warns them that there is no adequate basis for such a radical departure; and that it would be, therefore, a failure.

PROBABILITIES

The decision in the invasion area may come within the next few days. The battle, meanwhile, will rest on probabilities.

The Germans probably will not be able to oust the invading forces, which now constitute a major force. They probably will be able to confine the forces, however, for an indefinite period.

This exigency probably will be met by the Allies in the form of new invasions calculated to disperse German resistance over other critical areas. Meanwhile, the Allies probably will be able to capture the port of Cherbourg, enabling them to strengthen their striking power in Normandy.

There probably will be new developments in the Mediterranean, for the purpose of complicating Germany's plight on the Italian peninsula, and the likelihood of these probabilities is a new landing behind the retreating German armies.

On Russia's front, too, there probably will be new offensives to accompany the offensive in Finland.

Circumstances as well as plans will dictate the moves to be made, but the important thing now is that the Allies are able to make the plans, while Germany retains only limited ability to dictate the circumstances.

NAVAL EXHIBIT

Pending disclosure of Admiral William F. Halsey's future duties in the war, many millions of his countrymen will wonder if he ever can find greater opportunities than those he used so brilliantly in the South Pacific.

At a time when public confidence in the navy's ability to hold its own—and a little better—in the Pacific was open to doubt, Admiral Halsey became a kind of naval exhibit to bolster the people's morale.

He revealed the qualities Americans expected their professional navy men to possess and use. He did more to bring back the navy than any other individual, not because he was unique, but because circumstances and his own character enabled him to make the reassuring publicity the nation needed to bolster its confidence.

There will be many heroes in the war. Some will be long remembered, some will be soon forgotten. It is pleasant to think that a century from now, or even longer, there still will be no naval hero who looked and acted the part any better than Admiral Halsey, who performed a psychological service as well as his duty, which was to blast the daylight out of the enemy.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, June 18.

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds promise of an outstanding success in a matter out of the ordinary or commonplace character. While it may have aspects connected with the spiritual, mystical or other subtle affiliation with associates, it may also arise as a reward for faithful service, fidelity to obligations or other service well rendered or dutifully performed. Endeavor to merit such emoluments.

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged for an exceptional bit of good fortune, coming as return for services dutifully performed, obligations paid or other worth while attention to superiors or other influential associates. There are peculiar or intriguing circumstances which may make such endeavor worth while.

A child born on this day should be fortunate and enjoy high recognition for its fidelity and good faith to obligations. It may have exceptional creative talents.

For Monday, June 19.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a sudden part in the direction of a new and probably radical departure in a venture, demanding quick and decisive action, with shrewd and clever grasp of situations while they are under control. There may be perilous angles requiring that propositions or agreements be taken up with alacrity and security, with particular attention to essentials and details.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are advised to take action on a sudden and perhaps unique proposal, in which delay and carelessness may forfeit a lucrative opening. Quick action may be necessary but backed up by reasonable judgment and wariness against loopholes for misconstruction or duplicity. Read contracts cautiously. Also safeguard private and affectional relations from intrigue or deception.

A child born on this day may have diversified talents, with ingenuity and skill, although possessing erratic and possibly subtle qualities, stressing tendencies to careless ways and dangers.

There have been several reports that the Atlantic wall has proved to be a bluff. This is to do less than justice to the Allied troops. There may have been some places where they got in with no great difficulty, but there were beaches where it was "touch and go" whether they would be able to establish themselves at all.—The Times of London.

All of the things which we use in this war, everything we sent to our fighting Allies, costs money—a lot of money. One sure way every man, woman and child can keep faith with those who have given and are giving their lives is to provide the money which is needed to win the final victory.—President Roosevelt.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Suggested Program for Father's Day

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I AM reminded by the National Committee that tomorrow is Father's Day and it is suggested that since lately Father has been under some strain from war news, taxes, shortages, community needs, etc., a few simple hints about how he should keep his health will be in order. "You might," suggests the Committee, "stress the benefits of good posture, what not to eat, the benefits of hot and cold baths, and how to stand and walk."

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The heck I will! I'd like to give Father a healthy day all right, so what I suggest is this: Do not take his blood pressure all day long. Do not remark that after all, we dig our graves with our teeth. Do not give him a box of vitamin tablets, but give him a box of cigars and a box at the ball game and tell him to go out there with his pals and slop his posture all over the seat, and stand up and sit down any way he darn pleases.

Avoid Fears

What this world needs is to free Father of fear. Fear crouched in the croakings of dietetic-vitaministic preachments of pseudo-scientists, fear of postwar messes as if a new generation could not work out at least some of its own destiny, fear of capital, labor, communism and heaven knows—fear of ourselves. We seem to be going back to a new Middle Age.

In that dark day man stood under the brooding and omnipresent fear of Hell. Have we liberated ourselves only to stand under the equally grim and unrelenting fear of Man? Modern man, who like Prometheus has stolen the fire from heaven; an Icarus who has stolen the wings from the birds; a Hercules who has piled our tables with the apples of the Hesperides; a Puck who has put a girdle round the earth in forty minutes?

I remember my own Father as one who was not too much impressed by warnings.

When I bought my first sphygmomanometer he was the only victim I had and he complacently allowed me to take his blood pressure. But when I started to tell him the results he refused to listen and informed me coolly that no machine was going to tell him how long he was going to live. A man, he said, has the God-given right to tell the truth or not as he chooses, but a machine volunteers the truth. Anyway, he said, he didn't want to know what his number was about to be up. Bishop Atwill had told him that making an angel of him was just like releasing one more fly into Grogan's saloon.

Father's Life and Beliefs

He was regular, he said, in all things—he was an alumnus in medicine, an Episcopalian in religion and a Republican in politics. This was a reflection of his deep-grained trust in the majority. Nature, he averred, was on the side of the majority.

He was not an educated man in a wide sense but he did not have either the awe or the contempt that one kind or other of uneducated man has for the scientist. He knew that some scientists were wise and some were fools. When a scientist told him that meat was bad for his kidneys he reserved judgment until he found out whether Mrs. Jones next door was in the habit of serving it to her family.

In spite of the fact that he never heard of vitamins, never would allow his blood pressure to be taken after that first time, ate whatever was put before him, hated cathartics, took a modicum of exercise, never took a cold shower in his life, had flat feet, a hernia and a bad posture, he lived to be nearly eighty years (13 and died one Sunday morning from rolling over in bed.

My Father carried out the prime function of parenthood. He was engaged in the great task of hearing us all up.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

P. C.—What are the causes of spots before the eyes?

Answer: "Spots before the eyes" usually are shadows of white blood particles moving in the interior of the eyes to feed the tissues. Ordinarily the movement of these blood particles is not noticed, but when the eyes are tired or strained, says the Better Vision Institute, the visual nerves are so jumpy that they see the shadows which healthy eyes do not notice.

HE'S OFF ON HIS FIFTY-FIFTH MISSION

There he goes again—out to pour more destruction on the Axis—once more to face the death of enemy fighters and flak!

He won't hesitate to go out on his fifty-sixth or his hundred and fifty-sixth mission. He knows he might not come back, but he keeps on going—giving more and more until the Hitler and Tojo crews are ready to "call it quits."

This is only your fifth mission—and a mission which is mighty easy in comparison with the ones he makes every week.

Stay in the fight by welcoming the Victory Volunteers—at least double your Bond purchases and then keep on. Your buying means "bombs away" for the Axis!

APPEAL TO YOU IN THE 5TH WAR LOAN DRIVE

WITH KNEE-CAP BROKEN and cartilage torn out, Sgt. Nicholas Miller, of Paterson, N.J., rescued two comrades under fire at El Guitir, Africa. For this heroic exploit he wears the Silver Star. Hasn't he done enough? No, he's buying War Bonds right along! Are you?

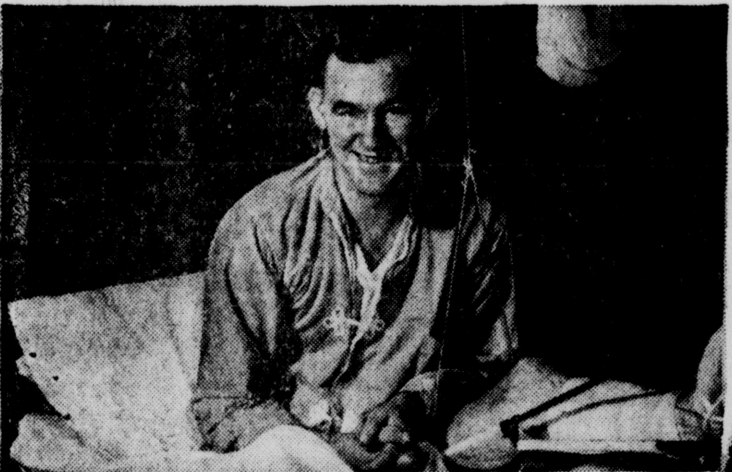

SHRAPNEL SHATTERED the knee of Pvt. Thomas Dellarossa, Trenton, N.J. He must go through life with a special leg brace. He urges you to buy more Bonds.

AN UNLUCKY SHRAPNEL FRAGMENT lodged in Pvt. Irwin Levinson's shoulder, left one hand paralyzed. You never heard shrapnel burst. Buy another Bond for a boy who did!

HIT BY SHELL BURST in Sicily; leg smashed; captured by Germans; carried two days in a jolting tank; abandoned on road; picked up by Yanks. That's the tough going that Pvt. Donat Cartier, of Derry, N.H., had. And all you have to do is buy Bonds!

WITH HIS LEFT LEG TWO INCHES shorter than his right, Pvt. Bernard Heidemann, of Chicago, will go limping through life. He stopped a German bullet in Sicily, but that hasn't stopped him from buying War Bonds. Don't let anything stop you from buying more!

COULD YOU SMILE AFTER LOSING your right eye from a shrapnel bullet, and having a compound fracture of your left leg? Sgt. Carl Funk, of Cincinnati, can not only smile, but is going to carry on in a munitions factory. It's up to you now. Buy War Bonds!

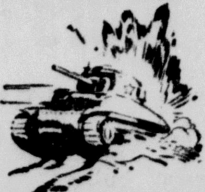

"We Gave EYES * LEGS * ARMS—Will you lend your money?"

TONIGHT when you go home to your family, think of the men who will never go home . . . who gave their lives that you might live. And think of the men who gave their eyes, arms, legs in the fight for freedom.

As you sit at home, knowing that in more than two years of war not a single enemy plane has threatened your life . . . think of the men who have made that security possible. And then, if you don't determine to do your full share in the 5th War Loan Drive, then maybe no appeal can reach your heart.

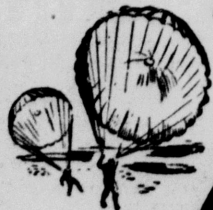

Four times America has asked you to do something extra to help smash Hitler and Tojo. And you have responded generously—magnificently. Now you are asked to do more than you've ever done before. Now, as our fighting men storm the bloody battlefields of Europe and the South Pacific, we must back them up as never before. This is the showdown!

Show that you care—that these thousands of brave "Purple Hearts" have not made their sacrifice in vain.

Right now—today—invest in EXTRA War Bonds—the biggest amount you can—$100, $200, $500. Some must invest thousands of dollars to put this crucial drive over the top. All must invest to the limit of their ability. It's for Invasion! It's for Victory! It's for the security of your own future.

Save FOR YOUR FUTURE WITH War Bonds

DURING this drive you may be visited by a volunteer War Bond worker. Open your door and your heart to him. Let him explain the various U. S. Government Bonds available. They are the safest investments in the world. Buy them and keep them . . . and you can face the future with confidence.

Back the Attack!—BUY MORE THAN BEFORE!

Recreation, Demings Move Into Four-Way Tie For Second

Demings' Brudery Throws One-Hitter To Blank News 8-0, As Recs Win Out 3-2

Putting in a serious bid for league honors in the second round, a re-organized, lively Demings aggregation knocked the Salem News out of first place yesterday, 8-0, behind one-hit pitching by Kenny Brudery, newly acquired hurler.

In the other game at Centennial park yesterday the Recreations moved themselves into the four-way tie for second place by brushing Paxsons, 3-2, in a hard fought contest.

Pitcher Brudery, who has worked just two full games for the Pumpers this season, came within a hair of chalking up the fifth no-hitter of the year. The News went without a safety until the final inning, when with two out and nobody on, Dick Falk smashed a single past third base. An error on the throw to second gave Falk third base, but Brudery retired the side and ended the ball game with the next batter.

"B" League Wins Go To Athletics And Columbians

Shutting out the Christian Endeavors 5-0, the Columbians emerged victorious in their Class B game yesterday while the Athletics won from Zions 10-8 in the other game.

Columbian Pitcher Cletti turned in a four-hit show in blanking the Endeavors while his teammates were picking up nine safe ones. In the other contest the Zions out-hit the Athletics 11-10 but couldn't make the extra hits pay off.

The Recreation squad started their fray off with a pair of scores in the first and led until the fifth inning when Paxsons tied it up. Joe Kelley, officially in his second game of the year, batted out a hit and advanced to third in the last of the fifth. With one out a fly ball to center brought Kelley in with the winning tally.

The veteran Recreation manager, player led his mates in hitting, getting two safeties in two times at bat.

Huffer Fails to Connect
Judy Myers, playing his third fray with the Recs, laced out a hit in three times at bat to maintain his .364 average. Charlie Huffer, Old Timer first baseman and one of the league's leading hitters, failed to connect in the battle for the first game this season. The first baseman has been the only player in the league to hit safely in every game until last night.

A new Salem News recruit was in action yesterday, Dick Hahn, formerly with the Parks squad in Class B and one of that league's leading hitters, went the stretch at center field.

BOSTON'S STREAK STOPPED BY NATS IN SHUT-OUT WIN

Senator's Blank Red Sox 4-0, In Nocturnal Fray At Washington

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer.
Boston's nine-game winning streak which had lifted the Red Sox from sixth place to within a half game of the American league lead was halted abruptly by Milo Candini, the Washington Senators' in-and-out right-hander, last night.

Candini blanked the Sox 4-0 with five hits in pitching his first complete game of the season. Stan Spence drove in the first two Senators runs in the opening inning with a single to raise his league leadership to .36. George Case stole two bases to tie Don Gutteridge for the lead in that department with 13 each. Washington's victory vaulted them into the first division, one percentage point ahead of the New York Yankees.

Browns Win Again
The league leading St. Louis Browns scored a decisive 14-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Milt Byrnes and Mark Christman each drove in three runs. Bob Muncrief won his sixth victory, scattering nine Bengal hits.

The Yankees started a long home stand with a victory over the tail-end Philadelphia Athletics 6-1. A five-run sixth inning enabled Hank Borowy to hang up his eighth win of the year.

Fireman Gordon Maltzberger rescued Orval Grove in the ninth when he fanned Manager Lou Boudreau with the bases full and two out, to give the Chicago White Sox a 3-1 win over the Cleveland Indians.

Brooklyn took a close game from the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4, with the aid of a four-run outburst in the sixth inning. Dixie Walker paced the Dodger attack with two doubles and drove in two runs. Rube Melton won his fourth game, though he needed help from Les Webber in the ninth.

The Cincinnati Reds clubbed four Chicago pitchers for 13 hits, including homers by Frank McCormick and Eric Tipton, to defeat the Cubs, 10-5.

The Giants, Braves, Cards and Pirates were not scheduled.

Enviably Record Set By Top Annapolis Graduate

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—There's a big job awaiting some Midshipman if he can make the grade, but he has to be a top-flight.

All he has to do is become a five-striper, regimental commander and the highest honor at the U. S. Naval academy, and besides that find time to be an All-America football player and a national weights champion in track and field.

George Cummings Brown, Jr. of San Diego, Calif., did all those things and hung up an enviable record for the boys to shoot at in years to come.

Brown, now 21, is tossing aside his "five stripes" and taking on the one stripe of an ensign in Uncle Sam's Navy and in departing the shores of the Severn in carrying with him a basket full of trophies.

The six-foot three-inch 195 pounder topped all his other performances when he was named commander of the Midshipmen regiment recently. He won this most coveted honor because of "his exhibition of the high qualities of leadership."

Bringing with him a fine prep school record, Brown became a regular guard on the Navy football team in 1942 and was a mainstay in the line. His play was sensational last fall on a forward wall that yielded only to Notre Dame and he was named on the Associated Press All-America first team.

The gridiron wasn't enough, so Brown made his bid on the track squad. There again he was tops. In 1943 he won the I. C. 4-A outdoor shot put title and placed fourth in the national championships. This winter he captured the national indoor shot put crown.

Only recently in Philadelphia he missed the outdoor shot put crown by one and three-quarter inches but the navy heaver and track captain tossed the discus 139 feet, five and seven-eighths inches to win that event.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

new moves are rapidly cutting off Japan's Pacific supply routes, forcing her into the narrow passes north of the Philippines, which are duck soup for submarines, and into the South China sea.

The Japanese war may see its climax in China and the home islands, but, just as we believe the European invasion brought the war there into its final phase, so we may be watching now the beginning of the end of the Pacific war proper.

Vast convoys of supplies will have to start moving westward instead of eastward before the showdown, and we undoubtedly will have to face again, as in 1942, the loss of some of our finest ships and men. But not often now do you hear the echoes of those once widely accepted predictions of a five-year war with Japan. We should know more about it by autumn.

In 1900 only one woman out of 2,000 wore silk stockings.

LET'S BRING THEM TOGETHER SOON

Buy a Bond for some fighting Yank's baby,
Dimpled cherub who spars with a spoon;
The wee lassie or lad of some overseas dad...
Let's bring them together... soon!

He's got plenty... and plus now... to fight for;
Give him plenty to fight with; the boon
Of your blood, if you bother, may save that babe's father...

Let's bring them together... soon!

Buy a Bond for that fighting Yank's baby
It's his fighting heart's favorite tune;
And save fat and waste paper, so he'll see his kid caper...

Let's bring them together... soon!

—Audrey Wurdemann.

Finnish Envoy Out

Finnish Minister Hjalmar J. Procope is pictured above arriving at his home in Washington after being handed his passport by our State Department. The action means that Procope, one of the most popular members of the diplomatic corps, is no longer persona grata in the United States and must depart for his homeland.

King George VI Sets Foot On Norman Soil

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, June 17.—King George VI visited the Normandy beachhead yesterday, his trip marking the first time in four centuries that a reigning sovereign of England has set foot on Norman soil to visit his armies fighting there.

The King crossed the channel on the British cruiser Arethusa and landed from an amphibious "duck," Louis Wulff, Reuters correspondent representing the combined Allied press, said in a dispatch from the warship.

When he stepped ashore on a beach just west of Courseulles, the King heard shells screaming overhead from the cruiser Hawkins, firing at a target 10 miles inland. It was the first time in this war the King had witnessed actual firing at enemy positions.

Before he returned safely to an English south coast naval port the monarch lunched with Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery at advanced headquarters and made Maj. Gen. R. F. L. Keller a commander of the British empire. Keller, from Kelowna, B. C., is in command of the Canadian Third division.

Covers First 11 Days

He paid high tribute to the courage of doughboys in establishing the beachhead on the European continent.

The tall, tanned Missourian, looking extremely fit and in good spirits, appeared in a group for the first time to discuss the campaign.

Bradley said casualties on the central beachhead, where the American first division and elements of the 29th division landed, had run higher than anticipated, but that casualties in the peninsula area to the west had been lower than anticipated.

Well Qualified M. P.

U. S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Central Pacific—Most soldiers suspect M. P.'s of having unusual backgrounds, and in the case of one grizzled, not-too-young M. P., who has just arrived in the Central Pacific area there is ground for their suspicions. Corp. Lou Richman, brother of the actor and singer, Harry Richman, is a veteran of the last war, has a son in this one, and among other things has been a pro boxer, policeman and the impresario of a small New York night club.

Her Name Was Code For Jap Bombing

Lieut. Col. James Garcia, left, and his wife, Betty, of Weirton, W. Va., had more than a little to do with the latest bombing of Jap installations. Garcia's wife's name, "Betty," was picked as the code word for the initial bombing over the Japanese homeland because her husband was chief of the Bomber Command Intelligence section. Garcia heard the signal 14 minutes before arriving over the target at Yawata. He was in a super-fortress piloted by Lieut. Col. Winton Close, who is married to Betty's sister, Jane.

the Japs from the beaches, the Yanks loaded on both sides of Charan Kanoa on Saipan's south west coast, 1,500 miles from Tokyo. The enemy evacuated Charan-Kanoa's 3,000 civilians but Johnston said they left behind a strong rear guard which had to be "cleaned out" in the first Pacific fighting comparable to Europe's house-to-house encounters.

Summarizing the situation, he reported the Charan-Kanoa airstrip has been won but still is under enemy mortar fire; on the south end of the beachhead, Yanks opened "a powerful attack today which carried them close to the Alois adrome;" on the north end, less than five miles below Garapan, that main town on Saipan was subjected to daylong American artillery fire. "Thanks to the preparatory strikes against dozens of Japanese bases in the Caroline, Nippon was unable to send aloft a single plane to interfere with landing operations," Johnston said.

ROBOT PLANES

in apparent attempt to confuse British defenses, but rockets from ack-ack batteries plunged steadily upward, and a number of the pilotless craft were reported crashed.

Putting caution before curiosity, people of southern England flocked into bomb shelters, most of which were jammed throughout the night.

Even as Hitler was sending over scores of the small un-manned craft, American Flying Fortresses and Liberators late yesterday were pounding military installations in the Pas-De-Calais area, generally believed to be the robot launching grounds.

RAF Spitfire pilots, with the same daring that brought them fame in the 1940-41 battle of Britain, were diving through terrific fire from their own ack-ack guns in bids to destroy these new German bombs.
